A diagram of a shield-shaped container, possibly a flask or beaker, shown in a light gray color. A vertical dashed line runs down the center of the shield, indicating the front side. The top edge of the shield is slightly curved. The text "front side" is written in a dark gray font across the center of the shield, positioned above the dashed line. The text "back side" is written in a light gray font at the top of the page, above the shield. The text "Contents" is written in a light gray font below "back side" and above the shield.
